Paul Webb was down from his ranch after supplies Tuesday.

E. H. Turner, the lone farmer and stockman, was in the city this week.

E. K. Wyland came down from Hardman Monday with a load of wool.

Lawrence Redding, Eight Mile farmer, was in the city Tuesday after farm supplies.

M. S. Corrigan and son Ralph, came in from their Butter creek home Tuesday.

J. T. Ayers, Butter creek farmer and stockman, spent several days in Heppner this week.

Messrs. Houser and Loughary Umatilla county horse buyers, arrived in the city Tuesday.

Jess Beardsley resumed his duties on the local train yesterday, after taking a lay-off of several days.

Wm. Corbett, Eight Mile farmer, spent a few days in Heppner this week. He returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Josie Jones arrived in Heppner Monday evening from Portland to look after property interests in this city.

Roy Bowman came over from Monument Monday. Mr. Bowman has established an auto stage line between Monument and this city.

Harold Cox, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cox, is seriously ill with typhoid fever, at the home of his parents in this city.

Creston Maddock, who now lives in Arlington, where his father recently purchased a hotel, visited with Heppner friends the last of the week.

Wm. McRoberts met with an accident with his Ford Tuesday, when the said car upset. Beyond a badly smashed windshield no other damage was done.

Mrs. J. M. Gorley, of southern Wyoming, is visiting at the home of her brother, Robert Gammell, who resides on the Stalter ranch, 6 miles south of Heppner.

Hale Brothers, carpenters, have been busy the past week finishing up the Ashbaugh building on Main St., which will be occupied by M. J. Bradford & Son, painters.

Spray Courier: Mike Marshall and son of Heppner, were here Wednesday receiving the sheep bought from Carson and Spray, and also from Templeton and Enyart.

Frank Noble arrived from the Fox Valley ranch of N. S. Whetstone early last week to be with his father, George Noble, in his last sickness. Frank is in charge of Mr. Whetstone's Grant county ranch.

Harley Adkins, a recent graduate of Heppner high school, who now lives in Walla Walla with Mrs. Adkins, has secured a good position with the Merchants Protective & Credit Association of that city.

Mrs. C. D. Huston, of Eight Mile was successfully operated upon at the Heppner Sanatorium Monday forenoon for the removal of gall stones. She is reported to be doing well and her rapid recovery is expected.

Miss Alice Howard, daughter of Prof. W. C. Howard, of Stanfield, arrived in Heppner Tuesday. She went on to Rhea creek where she will spend the summer months at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Adkins.

Louis Pearson, the tailor, who sometime ago purchased the building on Main street, formerly occupied by Mrs. L. G. Herren, milliner, has taken possession. Mr. Pearson is making some extensive improvements to his building and is having it moved over two feet onto the Elks' lot.

Robert Gammell met with a serious accident to his left eye recently when a piece of steel from a plow share struck that member. He came to town and had the steel removed, but it may prove that some of the metal yet remains in the eye ball and he will go to Portland to consult with an eye specialist if the injured member does not soon improve.

Mose Ashbaugh, who now lives near Hermiston, was in Heppner the first of the week on a short visit. He speaks enthusiastically of the Hermiston country. Mr. Ashbaugh, in company with Vane Jones, has been touring Umatilla county, booking orders for the Jones' Weeder, and he states that many farmers in the Weston and Athena section have placed orders with him for future deliveries.

H. L. Bennett, of Seattle, accompanied by his wife and daughter, are visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gay on Rhea creek. Mr. Bennett is a brother of Mrs. Gay, and he is called here at this time largely on account of his father, who makes his home with Mr. Gay. The old gentleman has not been in the best of health of late, and as the son was making a visit to the Yakima Valley and other parts of Eastern Washington, he has taken time to run over this way and see his people. He travels by auto and expects to remain for a week or ten days. Mr. Bennett was quite well acquainted with many of the older settlers of Morrow county, as he used to visit here and engage in sheep shearing. He followed this occupation for many seasons and left here 32 years ago. While there is much change in the appearance of the country, the Heppner hills look much as they did in the years of long ago, and Mr. Bennett also finds quite a large number of his old-time acquaintances here. We were pleased to meet the gentleman and get acquainted with him while he was in town on Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. Gay.

J. D. Bauman, Willow creek farmer near Lexington, was in the city Monday.

Ben Swaggart, the Eastern Oregon mule man, transacted business in Heppner Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barlow, of Rhea creek, spent a few hours in Heppner on Monday.

Born—in Heppner, July 4, 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Farnsworth, of Rheasiding, a son.

The Condon Times is advocating a bond issue for the building of permanent roads in Gilliam county.

Nels Justus and Harry Hayes have taken the Justus sheep to the high mountains for the summer range.

Henry Schwarz and family spent Sunday at the E. R. Merritt home up on the left fork of Willow creek.

W. P. Dutton came up from Portland the last of the week and is spending a few days in this city looking after property interests.

The Slocum mill force took a lay-off last Saturday and came to town to celebrate. The mill has been running full time the last few weeks.

Mike Szepanek returned to Heppner Monday after visiting for a few days with his family at the farm home near the mouth of Sand Hollow.

Paul Gammell, Leo Nicholson and Emery Gentry formed a party that celebrated the 3rd and 4th of July at the Cohn camp on upper Willow creek.

E. E. Rugg, of Rugg Bros., was in town Monday from his Rhea creek ranch after harvest supplies. They are now in the midst of hay harvest on the creek.

Miss Myrtle Tonsfeldt, who visited with her friend, Miss Leta Humphreys during the past week, returned to her home at White Salmon, Wash., Monday.

R. J. Carsner, the Wheeler county stockman, shipped four cars of prime beef cattle to the Portland market last Saturday. Mr. Carsner accompanied the shipment.

Lou Zigler took the families of J. B. Huddleston and John Wightman to the coal mines last Friday evening and they spent Saturday in the cool shades of the tall timber.

Miss Anna Dowall was called to her home at Missoula, Mon., Monday by the serious illness of her mother. Miss Dowall has been pianist at the Star Theater for the past two months.

Born—On Sunday, July 4, 1915, at the Allison hospital in Heppner, to the wife of Jess Beardsley, a daughter. Jess now claims the honor to be classed among our most patriotic citizens.

Mrs. J. A. Waters departed Tuesday for Portland, and after a few days will go on to Newport to remain for the summer. She will be joined later by Mr. Waters who will spend several weeks at the sea shore.

Mrs. J. P. Conder and sons and the Misses Mary Morgan and Mabry Currin, constituted a party whom Harry Morgan took to Moscow, Idaho in his Ford Sunday, where they will make relatives of the Morgans residing there a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Keithley were down from the Herren forest station on Ditch creek several days this week. On their return they were accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Vaughn, who will spend a portion of the heated spell in this mountain retreat.

Mrs. J. T. Knappenberg, of Ione, was successfully operated on for the removal of gall stones, Saturday. Dr. Tucker, of Portland, assisted local physicians in the operation. Mrs. Knappenberg is doing well at present and rapidly recovering from the effects of the operation.

J. S. Young, accompanied by his son Glenn, was in town Monday after some of his harvest crew. He returned to his Eight Mile home with Will Morgan and Dave Wilson. Mr. Young says that he has an excellent crop of barley and his wheat will make an average yield.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Copenhaver were visitors in Heppner Monday and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Copenhaver states that the recent hot weather has very materially shortened the crops in the north end of the county and he looks for little No. 1 grain to be harvested there this year.

Spencer Akers and family enjoyed the cool of the mountains near Parkers Mill Saturday and Sunday. They have established a camp at that point and the family will spend much of the heated term there. A very heavy rain visited that section on Sunday afternoon and this made it rather unpleasant for the pleasure seekers.

John Glascock and two daughters arrived from Portland the last of the week and have been visiting relatives here for several days. They will go on to McDuffee Springs to remain for a month or six weeks for the benefit of Mr. Glascock's health. He has been suffering from rheumatism quite severely for some time past and hopes that a stay at these famous medical springs will be the means of ridding him of the complaint.

Two auto loads of Heppner people went to Pendleton Monday evening to witness the Anderson-Ingle fight. Mr. Whitbeck took one load in his car, and in the party were Gay Anderson, Ralph Yeager, Henry Vance and George Aiken. Clarence Scrivner also took over a load, but through some trouble, they did not reach Pendleton until after the boxing match was over. The fight went for 14 rounds before the decision was made in favor of Ingle.

The young people will be at home to their friends at Lorella, Oregon. Miss Smith is one of Morrow county's successful young teachers, who has been attending the state Normal at Monmouth the past year.

Sam E. Van Vactor and family and S. W. Spencer and family have re-established their summer camps in the vicinity of Slocum mill on Willow creek where they will spend the months of July and August away from the heat and bustle of the city. None but the rich and owners of automobiles can be permitted to enjoy these great pleasures. The rest of us have to stay here below and sizzle with the heat and drink warm water.

Mrs. Jennie McCarter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Noble, arrived from her home at Oakland, Calif., on Thursday, to be at the bedside of her father, who is critically ill. Mrs. McCarter, not being well herself, was compelled to go to The Dalles on Monday where she will remain for a time. She suffers with heart trouble and the high altitude of Heppner is very detrimental. Mr. Noble still lingers and no hope is entertained for his recovery.
